

TAOS CENTER
FOR THE ARTS

HOUSE RULES

Taos Center for the Arts is reopening for in-person events in compliance with all CDC and New Mexico state health and safety guidelines. Whether you are new to TCA, or coming back after over a year, please take a moment to review these updates and temporary changes TCA has made in response to the COVID-19 pandemic.

THANK YOU FOR:

- Wearing a mask—masks are required, except when eating and drinking, in the galleries and theater
- Maintaining social distancing—please keep six feet apart from people outside your pod
- Washing your hands—clean restroom facilities and hand sanitizing stations will be available in galleries and theater
- Staying home if you are sick—please stay home if you or a person you have been in contact with are experiencing symptoms of COVID-19

WHAT TCA HAS DONE:

- HVAC upgrades—CDC recommended HVAC air purifying filters positioned strategically throughout theater and galleries
- Spaced Seating—reduced theater and gallery capacity, requiring empty seats left between separate parties
- Contactless ticketing—tickets will be made available for purchase online and in advance
- Limited concessions

Health and safety are our priority at TCA, and we are excited to welcome you back to our spaces!
